

Cell phone use inflight should never be allowed. The ability to transmitt sensitive and valuable information to those on the ground would be a major threat to our national security. In addition, the disruption during an emergency would impact everyone.